

Dane County Humane Society Asilomar Accords

Created in 2004 by animal welfare leaders from around the country, the Asilomar Accords provide a statistical framework, and a set of guiding principles, aimed at reducing the euthanasia of healthy and treatable dogs and cats. By providing a means to track animal health and euthanasia rates, and to compare those statistics to other participant organizations, the Asilomar system will let us measure our progress in reducing euthanasia and increasing the number of animals we save.

Presented here are the Asilomar data for Dane County Humane Society for 2006, in accordance with our Maddie's Fund grant requirement. For more information on the definitions and formulae used, and on the guiding principles of the Accords, please visit the Asilomar website at www.asilomaraccords.org.
